

- 1- You are winning now, but that won't always be true.
- 2- As the winner it is always your primary responsibility to continue winning, but your secondary is responsibility is making sure the other players want to continue playing. You'll also want to consider a goal of making it so others want to continue being friends with you as well?
- 3- Anyone can win a game... but can you win while making others happy that you won? That's the Take That Board Games Challenge.
- 4- Yes, again, we get it. You are winning. We are proud of you. Nothing said above in any way should detract from the immense joy you get from crushing your enemies, seeing them driven before you, and hearing the lamentation of their loved ones.
